Interests

Andy Evans is the Headteacher of Great Oaks School in Southampton, a secondary school for young people with learning difficulties. He has been involved in special education for the past 27 years as a teacher, lecturer and employment project officer in a number of maintained and independent schools and colleges.

Andy has been involved with signalong for the past 18 years, training as a tutor in 1998, delivering singalong courses in a FE college in Cirencester. He has since been instrumental in bringing Signalong to the Cambian Group of Schools and most recently to Great Oaks.

Andy is a huge Elvis Costello fan and in his spare time enjoys walking, swimming and spending time with his family.
